

If you are an avid Van Gogh fan then you would love this Weblink. This Weblink links to the Van Gogh Museum that has lectures, activities, and It has the complete collection of all Van Gogh's paintings, It was interesting to see some of his paintings that I'd never seen before. A really weird one is a skeleton smoking a cigarette which is very different from Van Gogh's paintings, usually they are of everyday things. Maybe he new back then that cigarettes could be harmful to our bodies. It was something really abstract for him, but he always does such beautiful work with such amazing texture and color. Its definitely worth visiting to just see all of his beautiful paintings. My favorites are "Starry Night" and "Sunflowers", they are so different with texture but yet still maintain what they are and their natural beauty.
